

REUNIONS

MAGAZINE

Fundraising helps reunions

Glorious summer reunion
reports

How to plan
a successful military reunion

VOL 14 NO 2
OCTOBER/NOVEMBER 2003
$3/USA $5.60/CAN

Display until November 30, 2003

Many families gather at Baker's Sunset Bay Resort and sample Dells' waterparks and other attractions. Located on five wooded acres overlooking gentle Lake Delton, the family-owned resort features the largest beach on the lake, free rowboats for an afternoon of fishing, volleyball, horseshoes, ping pong and more. Spend some time poolside or rent a pontoon boat for cruising Lake Delton. Cottages, suites and spacious family rooms come with air conditioning, heat and cable TV. Most have fully equipped kitchens and private balconies. A meeting room with a full kitchen is also available for reunions.

Jack and Dona Albee, Wauwatosa, Wisconsin, spent quite a bit of time on the internet visiting the Dells to look for the best place to spend their weekend reunion. "We finally arrived at Sunset Resort and found it met all our desires. It was a nice, family-oriented place away from the Dells' usual glitter with a beach that has seashells in the very early morning before they are scooped up, a good size indoor pool for inclement weather, barbecue grills everywhere, lots of sand and green areas as well," Mr. Albee explained. "For a special evening of brats and beverages, the 35 of us had a large grassy area with a couple picnic tables and grills. The brats, potato salad and condiments were ordered from a local market Sunset Resort recommended." Albee family members traveled from California, Arizona, Montana, Colorado and Texas to meet in the Dells. "In the evening after the sun went down, Sunset Resort lit its bonfire," Albee said. "It is actually a pit where they put dry logs surrounded by a deck and benches all around—a great place to relax, tell a few stories and have a Dells' good time." Some members did some rock climbing at nearby Devils Lake while others went to the Circus Museum at Baraboo. Nearly everyone took in a tour of Wisconsin Dells Glacial Park and the Lower Dells region of the Wisconsin River aboard the Dells Army Ducks—those amphibious vehicles that tour via land and water. Contact Baker's Sunset Bay Resort at 800-435-6515; www.sunsetbayresort.com.

Reprinted with permission of Reunions Magazine.

Chicago Tribune and Janesville Gazette Say...

Baraboo has a handful of nice hotels, but we chose to stay at Baker's Sunset Bay Resort in nearby Lake Delton because we wanted a waterfront view. The hotel, just a few miles from town, has the lake's largest beach and a nightly bonfire.